THIS collection contains all the songs recommended for older children by the Board of Education in their Blue Book of Suggestions (1905): see Appendix VI., p. 131.

The accompaniments are of the simplest character, and are merely intended to suggest sufficient harmony to make clear the tonality of each song, and in some cases to reinforce the characteristic rhythm, without distracting the attention of the singers from the melody itself. English children may at first experience some difficulty in grasping the peculiar scales and intervals of Keltic tunes; but what Scotch, Welsh, and Irish children can sing naturally, English children can acquire, and the trouble involved will be amply repaid by the widening of their musical horizon, and by the more deeply poetical influence which Keltic music will exert upon the young mind.

It cannot be too strongly urged upon teachers that rhythm is the life-blood of Folk-songs, as it is of all the great literature of music which has sprung from the Folk-song. Rhythmical character will be found in more varied forms and in greater strength throughout the Keltic songs and the English songs of a date anterior to the Commonwealth; probably because the characteristic old dance-measures were discouraged and well nigh exterminated in England after that date. The other parts of the United Kingdom have, however, continuously preserved them. All the greatest stores of foreign Folk-music, such as the Hungarian, Bohemian, Russian, Tyrolese, etc., etc., owe their peculiar charm and vitality to their varied and powerful rhythms. British Folk-music is inferior to none of these, and possesses the additional advantage of having four treasure-houses to draw upon, and two distinct racial types.

The first thing in music which appeals to the human being is Rhythm, and it is only by fostering and building upon this that a truly musical spirit can be infused into the nation. The children of to-day will be the men and women of to-morrow, and according to the training of its children, so will the power of the nation be.

Special attention should be directed to the fifth paragraph on page 71 of the Blue Book. It is precisely in the use of the best rhythmical tunes for marching and physical exercises that children will become most familiar with them, and will grow to realise that they are part of their language and their life.

Many of the poems in this book are in themselves fine literature. The lyrics of Shakespeare, Ben Jonson, Burns, Moore and others are to be found wedded to these airs. If children first learn the poem, it will not only increase their appreciation of poetry, but also help them to master the lilt and rhythm of the tune; while clear enunciation of the words while singing (a vitally important point in their training) will come far more easily and naturally.

Marks of expression have been but sparingly inserted, as the various verses differ often largely in expression; and these, as well as some of the slight changes in note-values, necessitated by the syllabic changes in some verses, are left (as in Hymns) to the common-sense and taste of the teachers.

It will be found advisable and useful, in the case at any rate of any children who show a natural aptitude for music, to teach them how to write notes, rests, and clefs. It is as essential for such children to cultivate a good music hand as a good writing hand; but in order to acquire it, the following suggestions should be followed. The pen should be broad-nibbed if of metal, and yielding if of quill. The hand should be held so that the pen is at a right angle to the side-lines of the paper, and the line of the nib therefore parallel to it. The elbow should be kept further away from the body than in ordinary handwriting. Black-headed notes (such as crotchets) can then be made by simple pressure of the pen, without any frequent circular movement of it. The lines will be drawn straight with much less difficulty in that position, by slightly bending the joints of the thumb and first finger as the pen descends; and the tails will be more easily joined to the heads of the notes,—a most important point to insist upon from the start. Most music handwriting is spoilt by the habit of holding the pen as in ordinary writing, and a good music hand (which may become even a useful and lucrative commercial asset) should be trained rather on the lines of drawing.

The Editor wishes to express his thanks to Mr. A. P. Graves for his versions and new translations of many of the songs; to Mr. J. Lloyd Williams, Director of Music at Bangor University College, for the selection, explanation, and revision of the Welsh songs and texts; to Mr. L. Jones (Llew Tegid) for two new Welsh lyrics; to Professor Morris Jones for critical suggestions upon the Welsh section, and the adaptation of the Welsh words to the demands of the new system of Welsh spelling; to Mr. Fuller Maitland for his assistance in the collection of Rounds and Catches: and to Dr. Charles Wood for kind permission to use three Irish songs from his collection.

NATIONAL SONG BOOK.

BEGONE, DULL CARE!

17th century.

VOICE. Rather quick. f

1. Be - gone! dull care!... I pri - thee be - gone from me!..... Be -

PIANO.

- gone! dull care, you and I shall ne - ver a - gree..... Long time hast thou been tar - rying here And fain thou would'st me kill..... But i' f

mf

faith, dull care,..... Thou ne - ver shall have thy will.

2.

* Too much care will make a young man turn grey,
 And too much care will turn an old man to clay.
 My wife shall dance and I will sing,
 So merrily pass the day,
 For I hold it one of the wisest things
 To drive dull care away.

* Begin on second bar.

THE HUNT IS UP!

Old English.

Fast.

VOICE. 1. The hunt is up, the hunt is up. And it is well nigh day,..... And

PIANO.

Har - ry, our King, is gone hunt - ing To bring his deer to bay.....

2.

The East is bright with morning light,
And darkness it is fled;
The merry horn wakes up the morn
To leave his idle bed.

3.

The sun is glad to see us clad
All in our lusty green,
And smiles in the sky, as he riseth high
To see and to be seen.

Awake, all men, I say again.
Be merry as you may,
For Harry, our King, is gone hunting
To bring his deer to bay.

THERE WAS A JOLLY MILLER.

(THE BUDGEON IS A DELICATE TRADE.)

Fast.17th century.

VOICE.

PIANO.

2.

"I live by my mill, she is to me
 Like parent, child and wife,
 I would not change my station
 For any other in life;
 No lawyer, surgeon or doctor,
 E'er had a groat from me,
 And I care for nobody, no, not I.
 If nobody cares for me."

THE KEEL ROW.

(SMILING POLLY.)

Northumbrian Tune, 18th century.

Fast.
mf

VOICE.

I. As I came thro' Sand-gate, Thro' Sand-gate, thro' Sand-gate, As I came thro'

PIANO.

Sand - gate, I heard a lass - ie sing: 'Oh, weel may the keel row, The keel row, the keel row, Oh, weel may the keel row That my lad-die's in."

2.

O wha's like my Johnny,
Sae leish, sae blithe, sae bonny?
He's foremost among the mony
Keel lads o' coaly Tyne:
He'll set and row so tightly,
Or in the dance—so sprightly—
He'll cut and shufle sightly;
'Tis true—were he not mine.

3.

He wears a blue bonnet,
Blue bonnet, blue bonnet;
He wears a blue bonnet,
A dimple in his chin;
And weel may the keel row.
The keel row, the keel row,
And weel may the keel row,
That my laddie's in.

NOW, ROBIN, LEND TO ME THY BOW.

VOICE. f

1. Now, Ro-bin, lend to me thy bow, Sweet Ro-bin, lend to me thy bow, For

PIANO.

I must now a-hunt-ing with my La-dy go, With my sweet La-dy go.

2.

"And whither will thy Lady go?
Sweet Wilkin, tell it unto me;
And thou shalt have my hawk, my hound, and eke my bow,
To wait on thy Lady."

3.

"My Lady will to Uppingham,
To Uppingham, forsooth, will she;
And I myself appointed for to be the man
To wait on my Lady."

"Farewell, good Wilkin, all beshrew'd,
Thy hunting nothing pleaseth me;
But yet beware thy babbling hounds stray not abroad.
For ang'ring of thy Lady."

5.

"My hounds shall be led in a line,
So well I can assure it thee;
Unless by strain of view some pursue I may find
To please my sweet Lady."

6.

With that the Lady she came in,
And willed them all for to agree;
For honest hunting never was accounted sin,
Nor never shall for me.

JOHN PEEL.

Old Hunting Song.

Quickly and with spirit.

VOICE.

1. D' ye ken John Peel with his coat so gay, D' ye ken John Peel at the break o' the day. D' ye ken John Peel when he's far, far a-way With his

PIANO.

A little slower.

In time.

f CHORUS.

hounds and his horn in the morn - ing? For the sound of his horn brought me from my bed, And the cry of his hounds, which he oft - times led,

Peel's "View hal-loo" would a - wak - en the dead, Or the fox from his lair in the morn - ing.

Yes, I ken John Peel, and Ruby too,
 Ranter and Ringwood, Bellman and True;
 From a find to a check, from a check to a view,
 From a view to a death in the morning.

For the sound of his horn, &c.

Then here's to John Peel, from my heart and soul,
 Let's drink to his health, let's finish the bowl;
 We'll follow John Peel, through fair and through foul,
 If we want a good hunt in the morning.

D'ye ken John Peel with his coat so gay?
 He liv'd at Troutbeck once on a day;
 Now he has gone far, far away,
 We shall ne'er hear his voice in the morning.

For the sound of his horn, &c.

YOU GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

Boldly.17th century.

VOICE.

1. You gen-tle-men of Eng-land That live at home at ease, How lit-tle do you think up-on The dan-gers of the seas; Give ear un-to the ma-ri-ners, And they will plainly show All the cares and the fears, When the storm-y winds do blow.

PIANO.

If enemies oppose us,
 And England is at war
 With any foreign nation,
 We fear not wound or scar;
 To humble them, come on, lads,
 Their flags we'll soon lay low—
 Clear the way for the fray,
 Though the stormy winds do blow.

3.

A sailor must have courage,
 No danger he must shun,
 In ev'ry kind of weather
 His course he still must run;
 Now mounted on the topmast,
 How fearful 'tis below,
 Then we ride as the tide,
 When the stormy winds do blow.

But when the danger's over,
 And safe we come on shore,
 The horrors of the tempest
 We think upon no more;
 We find a hearty welcome
 Wherever we may go,
 Safe and sound on dry ground,
 When the stormy winds do blow.

THE BAILIFF'S DAUGHTER OF ISLINGTON.

Slowly. mf Traditional.

VOICE.

1. There was a youth, and a well be-lov-ed youth, And he was a squire's son, He lov'd the bail-iff's daugh-ter dear, That lived in Is-ling-ton.

PIANO.

2.

But she was coy and never would
On him her heart bestow
'Till he was sent to London town
Because he lov'd her so.

3.

When seven years had pass'd away
She put on mean attire,
And straight to London she would go
About him to enquire.

4.

And as she went along the road,
Through weather hot and dry,
She rested on a grassy load
And her love came riding by.

5.

"Give me a penny, thou 'prentice good, Relieve a maid forlorn!"
"Before I give you a penny, sweetheart, Pray tell me where you were born."

"Oh I was born at Islington."
"Then tell me if you know
The bailiff's daughter of that place."
"She died, sir, long ago."

7.

"If she be dead, then take my horse,
My saddle and bridle also,
For I will to some distant land
Where no man shall me know."

8.

"O stay, O stay, thou goodly youth,
She standeth by thy side!
She's here, alive, she is not dead,
But ready to be thy bride!"

BARBARA ALLEN.

Old English.

In flowing time. p cresc. mf

VOICE. 1. In Scar-let town, where I was born, There was a fair maid dwell-in',..... Made

PIANO.

ev - 'ry youth cry "Well - a - day," Her name was Bar - b'ra Al - len.

2. All in the mer - ry month of May, When green buds they were swell-in',..... Young Jem - my Grove on his death-bed lay, For love of Bar - b'ra Al - len.

And death is printed on his face,
And o'er his heart is stealin';
Then haste away to comfort him,
Oh! lovely Barbara Allen.

So slowly, slowly she came up,
And slowly she came nigh him;
And all she said, when there she came,
"Young man, I think you're dying."

5.
When he was dead and laid in grave,
Her heart was struck with sorrow;
O mother, mother, make my bed,
For I shall die to-morrow.

"Farewell!" she said, "ye maidens all,
And shun the fault I fell in;
Henceforth take warning by the fall
Of cruel Barbara Allen."

THE BRITISH GRENADIERS.

In march time.16th century.

VOICE. f

1. Some talk of Al - ex - an - der, And some of Her - cu - les, Of

PIANO.

Hector and Ly - san - der. And such great names as these; But of all the world's brave he - roes There's

Whene'er we are commanded
To storm the palisades,
Our leaders march with fuses,
And we with hand grenades;
We throw them from the glacis
About the enemies' ears,
Sing tow row row row row row
The British Grenadiers.

3.

Then let us fill a bumper,
And drink a health to those
Who carry caps and pouches,
And wear the loupéd clothes;
May they and their commanders
Live happy all their years,
For the British Grenadiers.

DRINK TO ME ONLY.

Poem by BEN JONSON.

In moderate time and flowingly.

VOICE. p

1. Drink to me on - ly with thine eyes, And I will pledge with mine,.....

PIANO.

Or leave a kiss with - in the cup, And I'll not ask for wine;..... The thirst that from the soul doth rise Doth ask a drink di - vine,.....

p

But might I of love's nec - tar sip, I would not change for thine.

2.

I sent thee late a rosy wreath,
 Not so much honouring thee,
 As giving it a hope that there
 It could not withered be;
 But thou thereon didst only breathe,
 And sent'st it back to me
 Since when it grows, and smells, I swear,
 Not of itself, but thee.

EARLY ONE MORNING.

Old English.

Fairly quick.

VOICE. 1. Ear - ly one morn - ing, just as the sun was ris - ing, I heard a maid sing in the val - ley be - low: "O don't de - ceive me, O nev - er leave me! How could you use..... a poor maid-en so?"....

PIANO.

"Remember the vows that you made to your Mary,
Remember the bow'r where you vowed to be true;
O don't deceive me, O never leave me!
How could you use a poor maiden so?"

3.

"O gay is the garland, and fresh are the roses,
I've culled from the garden to bind on thy brow,
O don't deceive me, O never leave me!

Thus sung the poor maiden, her sorrows bewailing,
Thus sung the poor maid in the valley below:
"O don't deceive me, O never leave me!
How could you use a poor maiden so?"

WE BE THREE POOR MARINERS.

In moderate time.

1609.

VOICE. mf

1. We be three poor ma - ri - ners, New - ly come from the seas; We spend our lives in jeo - par - dy, While o - thers live at ease.

Come let us dance the round, a-round, around, Come let us dance the round, around, around, And he that is a bul - ly boy, Come pledge me on the ground, the ground, the ground.

We care not for those martial men
 That do our States disdain;
 But we care for the merchant-men
 Who do our States maintain.
 To them we dance this round, around, around,
 To them we dance this round, around, around,
 And he that is a bully boy,
 Come pledge me on the ground, the ground, the ground.

OH! THE OAK AND THE ASH.

In moderately flowing time.17th century.

VOICE. mf

bon-ny i-vy tree, They flour-ish at home in my own coun-try."

Slower.

2. "While sadly I roam I regret my dear home,
Where lads and young lasses are making the hay;
The merry bells ring, and the birds sweetly sing,
And maidens and meadows are pleasant and gay.
Oh! the oak, and the ash, and the bonny ivy tree,
They flourish at home in my own country."

3. "No doubt, did I please, I could marry with ease;
Where maidens are fair many lovers will come;
But he whom I wed must be north-country bred,
And carry me back to my north-country home.
Oh! the oak, and the ash, and the bonny ivy tree,

THE ROAST BEEF OF OLD ENGLAND.

ff

Oh, the roast beef of old Eng - land! And oh, for old England's roast beef!.....

2.

Our fathers of old were robust, stout, and strong,
 And kept open house, with good cheer all day long.
 Which made their plump tenants rejoice in this song :
 Oh, the roast beef, &c.

3.

In those days, if fleets did presume on the main,
 They seldom or never return'd back again ;
 As witness the vaunting Armada of Spain.
 Oh, the roast beef, &c.

Her arms to make him stay—
“My dear! it rains, it hails, it blows,
You cannot hunt to-day.”

But a-hunting we will go, &c.

3. The uncavern'd fox like lightning flies,
His cunning's all awake,
To gain the race he eager tries,
His forfeit—life—the stake.

When a-hunting we do go, &c.

4. At length his strength to faintness worn,
The hounds arrest his flight,
Then hungry homeward we return,
To feast away the night.
So a-hunting we will go, &c.

When William was our King declar'd,
 To ease a nation's grievance,
 With this new wind about I steer'd,
 And swore to him allegiance;
 Old principles I did revoke,
 Set conscience at a distance;
 Passive obedience was a joke,
 A jest was non-resistance.

And this is law, &c.

When George in pudding-time came o'er,
 And moderate men looked big, sir,
 I turned a cat-in-the-pan once more,
 And so became a Whig, sir:
 And thus preferment I procured

The first system of the musical score features a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The vocal line begins with a forte (f) dynamic marking. The lyrics are: "Joan,..... To trip it, trip it, trip it, trip it, Trip it up and". The piano accompaniment consists of a right-hand part with chords and a left-hand part with a rhythmic pattern.

Now dash'd upon the billow,
Her op'ning timbers creak,
Each fears a wat'ry pillow,
None stop the dreadful leak.
To cling to slipp'ry shrouds
Each breathless seaman crowds,
As she lay till next day
In the Bay of Biscay, O!

At length the wish'd-for morrow
Broke thro' the hazy sky,
Absorb'd in silent sorrow,
Each heav'd a bitter sigh.
The dismal wreck to view
Struck horror in the crew,
As she lay all that day
In the Bay of Biscay, O!

4.
Her yielding timbers sever,
Her pitchy seams are rent,
When Heav'n, all bounteous ever,
Its boundless mercy sent.
A sail in sight appears,
We hail her with three cheers,
Now we sail, with the gale.

The first system of the musical score features a vocal melody in G major (one sharp) and 4/4 time. The lyrics are 'sum - mer time when flow'rs do spring, And birds sit on each tree,..... Let'. The piano accompaniment consists of a right hand with chords and a left hand with a simple bass line.

lords and knights say what they will, There's none so mer - ry as we.....

The second system continues the melody. The lyrics are 'lords and knights say what they will, There's none so mer - ry as we.....'. The musical notation follows the same pattern as the first system.

My lord's son must not be forgot,
 So full of merry jest,
 He laughs to see the girls, I wot,
 And jumps it with the rest :
 No time is spent with more content
 In camp or court or city,
 So long as we skip it, frisk and trip it,
 Under the greenwood tree.

In summer time, &c.

3.

Our music is a little pipe
 That can so sweetly play,
 We hire old Hal from Whitsuntide
 Till latter Lammas day :
 On high days and on holy days
 After ev'ning pray'r comes he,
 And then we do skip it, caper and trip it,
 Under the greenwood tree.

In summer time, &c.

We oft go to Sir William's ground,—
 And a rich old cub is he,
 And there we dance around, around,
 But never a penny we see :
 When the day is spent, with one consent,
 Again we all agree
 To caper and skip it, trample and trip it,
 Under the greenwood tree.

Tom never from his word departed,
His virtues were so rare :
His friends were many and true-hearted,
His Poll was kind and fair :
And then he'd sing so blithe and jolly,
Ah ! many's the time and oft ;
But mirth is turn'd to melancholy,
For Tom is gone aloft.

3.

Yet shall poor Tom find pleasant weather.
When He, who all commands,
Shall give, to call life's crew together,
The word to pipe all hands :
Thus death, who kings and tars despatches.
In vain Tom's life hath doff'd,
For though his body's under hatches,
His soul is gone aloft.

The spirit of your fathers
 Shall start from every wave!
 For the deck it was their field of fame,
 And ocean was their grave;
 Where Blake and mighty Nelson fell
 Your manly hearts shall glow,
 As ye sweep through the deep,
 While the stormy winds do blow;
 While the battle rages loud and long,
 And the stormy winds do blow.

3.

Britannia needs no bulwarks,
 No towers along the steep;
 Her march is o'er the mountain-waves,
 Her home is on the deep.
 With thunders from her native oak
 She quells the floods below,—
 As they roar on the shore,
 When the stormy winds do blow:
 When the battle rages loud and long,
 And the stormy winds do blow.

The meteor flag of England
 Shall yet terrific burn;
 Till danger's troubled night depart,
 And the star of peace return.
 Then, then, ye ocean-warriors!
 Our song and feast shall flow
 To the fame of your name,
 When the storm has ceased to blow;
 When the fiery fight is heard no more,
 And the storm has ceased to blow.

She cut her hair close and she stained her face brown,
And went for a soldier to fair London town.

3.

Then up spake the sergeant one day at his drill:
"Now who's good for nursing? a Captain lies ill!"
"I'm ready," said Polly: to nurse him she's gone,
And finds 'tis her true love all wasted and wan.

The first week the doctor kept shaking his head:
"No nursing, young fellow, can save him," he said.
But when Polly Oliver had nursed back his life,
He cried, "You have cherished him as if you were his wife!"

5.

Oh then Polly Oliver she burst into tears,
And told the good doctor her hopes and her fears;
And very soon after, for better for worse,
The Captain took joyfully his pretty soldier nurse!

 The Severn is no stay,
 With ' One and all,' and hand in hand,
 And who shall bid us nay ? "
 Out spake their captain brave and bold,
 A merry wight was he :
 " If London Tower were Michael's Hold, We'll set Trelawny free ! "

3.

" And when we come to London Wall,
 A pleasant sight to view,
 Come forth ! come forth, ye cowards all,
 Here's men as good as you !
 Trelawny he's in keep and hold,
 Trelawny he may die ;
 But twenty thousand Cornish bold
 Will know the reason why !
 And when we come to London Wall,
 A pleasant sight to view,
 Come forth ! come forth, ye cowards all,
 Here's men as good as you ! "

And he swam alongside of the Turkish enemy;
And with his auger sharp in her side he bored holes three,
And he sank her in the Lowland sea.
5. Then the boy turned round, and back again swam he,
And he cried out to the skipper of the Golden Vanity;
But the skipper did not heed, for his promise he would need;
And he left him in the Lowland sea.
6. Then the boy swam round, and came to the port side,
And he looked up at his messmates, and bitterly he cried:
"O messmates, take me up, for I'm drifting with the tide,
And I'm sinking in the Lowland sea!"
7. Then his messmates took him up, but on the deck he died;
And they sew'd him in his hammock that was so large and wide;
And they lowered him overboard, but he drifted with the tide,
And he sank beneath the Lowland sea.

 With flowers of the fairest, baith pleasant and gay;
 Sae bonny was their blooming! their seent the air perfuming!
 But now they are wither'd and a' wede away.

3.

I've seen the morning with gold the hills adorning,
 And the loud tempest roaring before parting day;
 I've seen Tweed's silver streams, glittering in the sunny beams,
 Grow drumly and dark as they roll'd on their way.

O, fickle Fortune, why this cruel sporting?
 O why thus perplex us, poor sons of a day?
 Thy frown cannot fear me, thy smile cannot cheer me;
 Since the Flowers of the Forest are a' wede away.

How lofty, sweet Afton, thy neighbouring hills,
Far marked with the courses of clear-winding rills!
There daily I wander as morn rises high,
My flocks and my Mary's sweet cot in my eye.

How pleasant thy banks and green valleys below,
Where wild in the woodlands the primroses blow!
There oft as mild evening creeps over the lea,
The sweet-scented birk shades my Mary and me.

Thy crystal stream, Afton, how lovely it glides
And winds by the cot where my Mary resides!
How wanton thy waters her snowy feet lave
As gath'ring sweet flow'rets she stems thy clear wave!

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes,
Flow gently, sweet river, the theme of my lays:
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring stream,
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

My kurtch I put upon my head,
And dress'd mysel' fu' braw,
I trow my heart was dowf and wae
When Jamie gaed awa'.
But weel may the boatie row,
And lucky be her part;
And lightsome be the lassie's care
That has an honest heart.

When Sandie, Jock, and Janetie
Are up, and gotten lear,
They'll help to gar the boatie row,
And lighten a' our care.
The boatie rows, the boatie rows,
The boatie rows fu' weel;
And lightsome be the heart thet bears
The murlin and the creel.

7.

And when wi' age we're worn down,
And hirpling round the door,
They'll help to keep us dry and warm
As we did them before:
Then weel may the boatie row
That wins the bairn's bread,
And happy be the lot of a'
That wish the boatie speed.

Wha would be a traitor knave?
 Wha would fill a coward's grave?
 Wha sae base as be a slave?
 Let him turn an' flee!
 Wha, for Scotland's king an' law,
 Freedom's sword would strongly draw,
 Freeman stand, and freeman fa',
 Let him on wi' me!

3.

By oppression's woes an' pains,
 By your sons in servile chains,
 We will drain our dearest veins,
 But they shall be free.
 Lay the proud usurpers low!
 Tyrants fall in every foe!
 Liberty's in every blow!
 Let us do or dee!

Dundee he is mounted, he rides up the street,
 The bells they ring backward, the drums they are beat,
 But the provost (douce man) said, "Just e'en let it be,
 For the toun is weel rid o' that de'il o' Dundee."

Come fill up my cup, &c.

3.

There are hills beyond Pentland, and lands beyond Forth,
 Be there lords in the south, there are chiefs in the north;
 There are brave Duinnewassels, three thousand times three,
 Will cry, "Hey for the bonnets o' Bonnie Dundee."

Come fill up my cup, &c.

4.

Then awa' to the hills, to the lea, to the rocks,
 Ere I own a usurper I'll crouch with the fox;
 And tremble, false whigs, in the midst o' your glee,
 Ye hae no seen the last o' my bonnets and me.

Come fill up my cup, &c.

WHA WADNA FECHT FOR CHARLIE?

Wha wad - na fecht for Char - lie? Wha wad - na draw the sword?

The first system of the musical score is in G minor (three flats) and 2/4 time. It begins with a forte (f) dynamic. The melody is in the treble clef, and the piano accompaniment is in the grand staff (treble and bass clefs). The lyrics are written below the melody.

Wha wad - na up and ral - ly At the roy - al Prin - ce's word?

The second system of the musical score continues the melody and piano accompaniment. It ends with a double bar line. The lyrics are written below the melody.

Rouse, rouse, ye kilted warriors!
 Rouse, ye heroes of the north!
 Rouse, and join your chieftain's banners,
 'Tis your Prince that leads you forth!
 Shall we basely crouch to tyrants?
 Shall we own a foreign sway?
 Shall a royal Stuart be banish'd
 While a stranger rules the day?
 Wha wadna fecht, &c.

3.

See the northern clans advancing!
 See Glengarry and Lochiel!
 See the brandish'd broadswords glancing!
 Highland hearts are true as steel.
 Now our Prince has raised his banner,
 Now triumphant is our cause;
 Now the Scottish lion rallies,
 Let us strike for Prince and laws!
 Wha wadna fecht, &c.

 The solan can sleep on the shelve of the shores,
 The cormorant roost on his rock of the sea,

 Have trod o'er the plumes on the bonnet of blue.
 Why slept the red bolt in the breast of the cloud
 When tyranny revell'd in blood of the true?
 Fareweel, my young hero, the gallant and good!
 The crown of thy fathers is torn from thy brow.

That 'tis sweeter to bleed for an age at thy shrine,
Than to sleep but a moment in chains.

Forget not our wounded companions, who stood
In the day of distress by our side;
While the moss of the valley grew red with their blood,
They stirr'd not, but conquered and died.
That sun, which now blesses our arms with his light,
Saw them fall upon Ossory's plain;
Oh! let him not blush, when he leaves us to-night,
To find that they fell there in vain!

Sweet Wicklow mountains! the sunlight sleeping
On your green banks is a picture rare.
You crowd around me, like young girls peeping,
And puzzling me to say which is most fair,—
As tho' you'd see your own sweet faces
Reflected in that smooth and silver sea.
My blessin' on those lovely places,
Tho' no one cares how dear they are to me.

How often when at work I'm sitting,
And musing sadly on the days of yore,
I think I see my Katie knitting,
And the childer playin' around the cabin door;
I think I see the neighbours faces
All gathered round their long-lost friend to see.
Tho' no one here knows how fair that place is,
Heav'n knows how dear my poor home was to me.

For high was thy hope, when those glories were darting
 Around thee through all the gross clouds of the world;
 When Truth, from her fetters indignantly starting,
 At once, like a Sunburst, her banner unfurl'd.
 Oh! never shall earth see a moment so splendid;
 Then, then had one Hymn of Deliverance blended
 The tongues of all nations, how sweet had ascended
 The first note of Liberty, Erin, from thee!

3.

But shame on those tyrants who envied the blessing!
 And shame on the light race unworthy its good,
 Who, at Death's reeking altar, like furies caressing
 The young hope of Freedom, baptized it in blood!
 Then vanished for ever that fair, sunny vision,
 Which, spite of the slavish, the cold heart's derision,
 Shall long be remember'd, pure, bright, and Elysian,
 As first it arose, my lost Erin, on thee.

strain; In tears our last fare-well was ta-ken, And now in tears we meet again. No light of joy..... hath o'er thee bro-ken, But like those harps whose heav'n-ly skill Of slav'ry, dark as thine, hath spoken, Thou hang'st up - on..... the wil-lows still.

2. And yet, since last thy chord resounded,
 An hour of peace and triumph came,
 And many an ardent bosom bounded
 With hopes that now are turn'd to shame.
 Yet even then, while Peace was singing
 Her halcyon song o'er land and sea,
 Though joy and hope to others bringing,
 She only brought new tears to thee.

3. Then who can ask for notes of pleasure,
 My drooping harp! from chords like thine?
 Alas, the lark's gay morning measure
 As ill would suit the swan's decline!
 Or how shall I, who love, who bless thee,
 Invoke thy breath for freedom's strains,
 When ev'n the wreaths in which I dress thee,
 Are sadly mix'd, half flow'rs, half chains.

4. But come, if yet thy frame can borrow
 One breath of joy, oh, breathe for me,
 And show the world, in chains and sorrow,
 How sweet thy music still can be;
 How gaily, e'en 'mid gloom surrounding,
 Thou yet canst wake at pleasure's thrill,
 Like Memnon's broken image, sounding
 'Mid desolation tuneful still.

 Its mem'ry lives in Music's breath.

3.

Music, oh how faint, how weak,
 Language fades before thy spell!
 Why should Feeling ever speak,
 When thou canst breathe her soul so well?
 Friendship's balmy words may feign,
 Love's are e'en more false than they;
 Oh! 'tis only Music's strain
 Can sweetly soothe and not betray.

 Who made every dear scene of enchantment more dear,
 And who felt how the best charms of nature improve,
 When we see them reflected from looks that we love.

Sweet Innisfallen, long shall dwell
In mem'ry's dream that sunny smile,
Which o'er thee on that evening fell,
When first I saw thy fairy isle.

3.

'Twas light, indeed, too blest for one
Who had to turn to paths of care;
Thro' crowded haunts again to run,
And leave thee bright and silent there;

No more unto thy shores to come,
But, on the world's rude ocean tost,
Dream of thee sometimes, as a home
Of sunshine he had seen and lost!

5.

Far better in thy weeping hours
To part from thee, as I do now,
When mist is o'er thy blooming bowers,
Like sorrow's veil on beauty's brow.

For, though univall'd still thy grace,
Thou dost not look, as then, too blest,
But thus in shadow, seem'st a place
Where erring man might hope to rest,—

7.

Might hope to rest, and find in thee
A gloom like Eden's, on the day
He left its shade, when every tree,
Like thine, hung weeping o'er its way.

Weeping or smiling, lovely isle!
And all the lovelier for thy tears;
For though but rare thy sunny smile,
'Tis Heaven's own glance when it appears.

Like feeling hearts whose joys are few,
But, when indeed they come, divine;
The brightest light the sun e'er threw
Is lifeless to one gleam of thine!

 And sends them, wing'd with worse than death,
 Throughout her madd'ning nation.

3.

Alas for her who sits and mourns,
 Ev'n now beside that river!
 Unwearied still the Fiend returns,
 And stored is still his quiver.
 "When will this end, ye Pow'rs of Good?"
 She weeping asks for ever,
 But only hears from out that flood,
 The demon answer, "Never!"

 My soul, happy friends, shall be with you that night;
 Shall join in your revels, your sports, and your wiles,
 And return to me beaming all o'er with your smiles—
 Too blest, if it tells me that, 'mid the gay cheer,
 Some kind voice had murmur'd "I wish he were here."

 You may break, you may shatter the vase, if you will,
 But the scent of the roses will hang round it still.

SHE IS FAR FROM THE LAND.

gaze and weeps, For her heart in his grave is ly - - ing.

She sings the wild songs of her dear native plains,
 Ev'ry note which he loved awaking;—
 Ah! little they think, who delight in her strains,
 How the heart of the Minstrel is breaking.

3.

He had lived for his love, for his country he died,
 They were all that to life had entwined him;—
 Nor soon shall the tears of his country be dried,
 Nor long will his love stay behind him.

Oh! make her a grave where the sunbeams rest,
 When they promise a glorious morrow;
 They'll shine o'er her sleep, like a smile from the West,
 From her own loved island of sorrow.

I'D MOURN THE HOPES THAT LEAVE ME.

(THE ROSE-TREE.)

Poem by MOORE.

mp Not too slow.

VOICE.

1. I'd mourn the hopes that leave me, If thy smiles had left me too; I'd weep when friends deceive me, If thou wert, like them, untrue. But while I've thee be-fore me, With heart so warm and eyes so bright, No clouds can lin-ger o'er me, That smile turns them all to light.

PIANO.

'Tis not in fate to harm me,
While fate leaves thy love to me;
'Tis not in joy to charm me,
Unless joy be shared with thee.
One minute's dream about thee
Were worth a long, an endless year
Of waking bliss without thee,
My own love, my only dear!

And though the hope be gone, love,
That long sparkled o'er our way,
Oh! we shall journey on, love,
More safely without its ray.
Far better lights shall win me
Along the path I've yet to roam,—
The mind that burns within me,
And pure smiles from thee at home.

Thus, when the lamp that lighted
The trav'ler at first goes out,
He feels awhile benighted,
And looks round in fear and doubt.
But soon, the prospect clearing,
By cloudless starlight on he treads,
And thinks no lamp so cheering
As that light which Heaven sheds.

AS SLOW OUR SHIP. (THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND ME.)

1. As slow our ship her foam - y track A - gainst the wind was

PIANO.

cleav - ing, Her trem - bling pen - nant still look'd back To that dear isle 'twas

cresc.

leav - ing. So loath we part from all we love, From all the links that bind us; So turn our hearts as on we rove To those we've left be - hind us.

2. When round the bowl of vanish'd years
We talk, with joyous seeming,
With smiles that might as well be tears,
So faint, so sad their beaming;
While mem'ry brings us back again
Each early tie that twined us,
Oh, sweet's the cup that circles then
To those we've left behind us.

3. And when, in other climes, we meet
Some isle or vale enchanting,
Where all looks flow'ry, wild and sweet,
And nought but love is wanting:
We think how great had been our bliss.
If Heav'n had but assign'd us
To live and die in scenes like this,
With some we've left behind us.

4. As trav'lers oft look back at eve,
When eastward darkly going,
To gaze upon that light they leave
Still faint behind them glowing;
So, when the close of pleasure's day
To gloom hath near consign'd us,
We turn to catch one fading ray
Of joy that's left behind us.

The first, second, and last lines of this air are slightly simplified from the more ornate and difficult original version; but there is authority also for this easier version. Ed.

(BRIGHTON CAMP.)

18th century.

1.

I'm lonesome since I cross'd the hill,
 And o'er the moor and valley,
 Such heavy thoughts my heart do fill
 Since parting with my Sally;
 I seek no more the fine or gay,
 For each does but remind me
 How swiftly pass'd the hours away
 With the girl I've left behind me.

Oh, ne'er shall I forget the night,
 The stars were bright above me,
 And gently lent their silv'ry light,
 When first she vow'd to love me!
 But now I'm bound to Brighton camp.
 Kind Heaven then pray guide me,
 And send me safely back again
 To the girl I've left behind me.

3.

Her golden hair in ringlets fair,
 Her eyes like diamonds shining,
 Her slender waist, with carriage chaste,
 May leave the swan repining.
 Ye gods above! oh, hear my pray'r.
 To my beauteous fair to bind me,
 And send me safely back again
 To the girl I've left behind me.

The bee shall honey taste no more,
 The dove become a ranger,
 The falling waters cease to roar,
 Ere I shall seek to change her.
 The vows we register'd above
 Shall ever cheer and bind me
 In constancy to her I love,
 The girl I've left behind me.

 Of voices long gone by.

3.

Couldst thou but call those spirits round,
 Who once, in bow'r and hall,
 Sat list'ning to thy magic sound,
 Now mute and mould'ring all;
 But, no; they would but wake to weep
 Their children's slavery;
 Then leave them in their dreamless sleep.
 The dead at least are free!
 Hush, hush, sad Harp, that dreary tone,
 That knell of Freedom's day;
 Or, list'ning to its death-like moan,
 Let me, too, die away.

 As quick and true at rat-tat-too,
 At roll-call or reveillez O!
 When great Wolfe died, his country's pride,
 To arms, to arms the father beat,
 Each dale and hill remembers still
 How loud and long, how clear and sweet!
 And when for home from off the foam
 He led the march with row-dow-dow,

THE HEROES OF THE SEA.

Poem by A. P. GRAVES.

VOICE. mf

1. I'll tell you of a won-der that will stif-fen up your hair, That hap-pen'd two poor fish-er-men con-ve-nient to Cape Clear: They just had run their boat a-float, they'd hard-ly gripped an oar, When their dog leapt in, their cat stepped in, that ne'er did so be-fore. Now what o-ver-came the crea-tures to start from shore?

PIANO.

2. Says one brother: "What's come o'er them two, who ne'er on land agree,
To settle up their difference a-this-way on the sea?"
"I consave," replied the other, "'tis the portent we could wish
For a powerful take of pilchard, since that same's their favourite fish.
'Tis a symptom, for sure, of a power of fish."
3. Well! when the rising moon revealed a swiftly rushing shoal,
Their net they shot and found they'd got a purty tidy haul.
But when a dozen yards of mesh they'd plumped into the hold,
They saw their fish were fine say-rats, which made their blood run cold,
As around and around them they screeched and rolled.
4. But ere each rat could rip his way from out the noosin' net,
Bedad, the jaws of Towzer or the claws of Tom he met.
Then safely our two fishermen rode home from out the bay,
And Tom and Towzer from that time were haroes you may say,—
Round about the country-side, many and many a day.

While all of the lazy ones bounce from their beds,
And up go their windies and out go their heads.
While the bugles they blow so gaily oh!
And away to the battle we marching go.

Now it's "Halt, Royal Irish!" now "Dress by the left!"
And on to the Quay through the crowd we have cleft;
Here's cheers for Old Ireland, with twenty cheers more,
And off with our ship from the Emerald shore.
While the bugles they blow so gaily oh!
And away to the wars o'er the ocean we go.

None would help you here to reign,

3. Yet the Blackbird far above,
Now I rank the Royal Dove,
Who, at last, for Erin's love,
Wreathing with shamrock her bosom pure,
O'er the dreadful flood's decrease
Flutters with its spray of peace,
To her bow'r of Queenly ease,
Nestling under the Cool-kellure.

Marching and marching,
So swift and far by sun and star!
Oh, marching and marching
Away for Candahar.
They say she's sore beset,
But through the Afghan net
We boys will break, and no mistake,
And save the city yet.

* Harlech Castle stands on a lofty rock upon the sea-shore of Merionethshire. The original tower called "Twr Bronwen," is said to have been built in the sixth century; it afterwards received the name of Caer Colwyn, and eventually its more descriptive name Harlech or above the boulders. Llech, meaning huge stone as in cromlech. In the vicinity of the castle there are places called the Llech, Tan-y-lech and Pen-lech, hence Ar-lech is undoubtedly the proper derivation.

"By order of the King (Edward IV.) William Herbert, Earl of Pembroke, led a powerful army to Harlech, and demanded the surrender of the place; but Sir Richard Herbert, the Earl's brother, received from the stout defender this answer:—'I held a tower in France till all the old women in Wales heard of it, and now all the old women in France shall hear how I defend this castle.' Famine, however, at length succeeded, and the intrepid Welshman (Dafydd ap Ieuan) made an honourable capitulation."—Dr. Nicholas.—Antiquities of Wales.

Thunders on the foe!
Now, avenging Briton,

Strong his sword, but yours is stronger!

Tis ages since, with eyes tear-blurred,
Caerleon's monk stood still and heard;

Ding, dong, ding, dong, ding, dong!
Yet, over Deva dimly tolled,
Caerleon's bells to Arfon rolled
Waken memories manifold.
On the breeze aloud they cry,
On the breeze, bewailing, die,
Voiceful of eternity.

Ding, dong, ding, dong, ding, dong!
Now they lament not for captive kings,
For over white Wales on her eagle wings
Up to heaven our young Freedom springs!

* "In consequence of taxes levied by command of King Edward I. toward defraying the charges of his wars in Gascony, formidable insurrections took place throughout Wales, under several provincial leaders, in the year 1294. Morgan, a chieftain of Morganwg, put himself at the head of the oppressed Cymry in that district, drove out the Earl of Gloucester, and regained possession of the territory of which that nobleman's predecessors had formerly deprived his ancestors. One of the finest of the Welsh martial airs, 'Rhyfelgyrch Capten Morgan,' was probably composed or selected by this prince to animate the march of his followers."—William's "History of Wales."

Out of the gloom leap the loud crashing targes,
Through the spear forest the battle-axe breaks,
Arrows fly hissing—to thundering charges
E'en to its margins the red morass quakes!
O'er the wild tumult, the wail of the wounded,
Hark! the clear voice of Caradoc is rolled:
"Into yon breach! or betrayed and surrounded
On Rhuddlan Marsh let the moon find us cold."

3.
Quick to his call hero hearts are up-leaping,
Fierce as their swords hero faces out-flame;
Strong hero arms the red harvest are reaping.
Gap after gap to their glory they claim!
Then with one voice all our nation kneels praying:
"Great is our jeopardy, Lord God of hosts,
Only in Thee our last hope we are staying,
None but Thine Arm can deliver our coasts!"

Honour and hope kept the vantage till sunset,
Then overpowered our battle gave way,
Vaunt not, proud foe, your victorious onset—
Numbers, not valour, have won you the day!
Oh! but yon crowd that with Heaven interceded—
Grey-headed grandsire, weak woman and child—
Now from their knees, their petition unheeded,
Flock in white terror far into the wild!

Coom after coom to Eryri's recesses
Echoes the cry of those desolate ones:
Whilst Mother Wales, as she tears her wild tresses,
Weeps o'er the urns of her mightiest sons!
Beauty's rose dies at Caradoc's disaster,
Terror and panic his battlements climb;
Whilst his arch-minstrel, lamenting his master,
Makes Morva Rhuddlan our dirge for all time.

Welsh tradition has always held that the great battle under Offa of Mercia and Caradoc is the one commemorated by the plaintive melody called Morfa Rhuddlan ("Rhuddlan Marsh,") which has come down to us from a remote antiquity, but whose real origin is unknown. Nothing more pathetic exists in any language. It is the wail of a nation, faint and broken-hearted under a great disaster:—

The cry is heard—the long loud wail—
O'er flood and plain, o'er hill and dale;
It is the heart of Cymru bleeds,
For fallen sons and treacherous deeds.
Dismay dwells in Caradoc's halls;
The royal minstrel, doleful, calls
Forth from his harp a strain his own sad harp appeals.

—Antiquities of Wales.—Dr. Nicholas.

Trwy y gwyll gwelaf ddull teryll y darian,
Clywaf si eirf heb ri' arni yn tincian.
O'r bwa'u gwyllt mae'n gwau saethau gan sio;
A thwst mawr nes mae'r llaw'r rhuddwaw'r yn siglo;
Ond uwch sain twrf y rhai'n, ac ochain y clwyfaw'r.
Fry hyd nef clywir cref ddolef Caradaw'r—
"Rhag gwneud brad ein hen wlad, brown eu cad weithian, Neu cad llor ni yn oer ar Forfa Rhuddlan!"

W'le fron pob rhyw lôn Frython yn chwyddo,
W'le'u gwedd, fel eu clodd ffamwedd, yn gwriddo;
W'le'r fraich rymus fry'n dyblu'r ergydion;
Yn eu nwy' torrent drwy lydain adwyon;
Yr un pryd Cymru i gyd gyfyd ei gweddi,—
"Doed yn awr help i law'r yn ein maw'r gyny;
Boed i ti, O! ein Rhi, nodd i cin trigfan;
Llwyddan awr cin llu maw'r ar Forfa Rhuddlan!"

Trosod daeth, fel rhyw saeth, alaeth a dychryn,
Och! rhag bost, bloeddiau tost ymfrost y gelyn;
Ond O! na lawenha, fel a wna'i orchest;
Nid dy rym ond dy ri' ddug i ti goncwest!
Ow! rhag braw'r dorf sy' draw'n gwyliaw o'r drysau.
Am lwydd cad Cymru fad—rhad ar ei harfau;
Mewn gwyllt fraw i'r geillt fry, rhedy pob oedran,
Wrth wel'd brad gwy'r eu gwlad ar Forfa Rhuddlan.

Bryn a phant, cwm a nant, lanwant a'u hoergri;
Traidd y floedd draw i goedd gymoedd Eryri;
Yr aw'r hon y mae llôn galon hen Gymru,
Am faw'r frig ei meib tég, gwiwdeg, yn gwaedu:
Braw a brys sydd trwy lys parchus Caradaw'r;
Gwaeddi maw'r fyn'd i law'r flaenaw'r galluaw'r;
Geilw ei Fardd am ei foy'n delym i gwynfan,
Ac ar hon tery don hen "Forfa Rhuddlan!"

 Up with the lark in the pasture you'll meet with her,
 Songs like his own sweetly trilling,
 Carrying now for some poor folk a treat with her,
 Small mouths with lollypops filling :
 And while, as he stands in a puzzle,
 She strokes the fierce bull on his muzzle,
 The calves and the lambs
 Run deserting their dams
 In her kind hands their noses to nuzzle.

3.
 Now with her maidens a sweet Cymric cadence
 She leads, just to lighten their sewing ;
 Now at the farm, her food basket on arm,
 She has set all the cock'rels a-crowing,
 The turkey-cock strutting and strumming,
 His bag-pipe puts by at her humming,
 And even the old gander,
 The fowl-yard's commander,
 He winks his sly eye at her coming.

4.
 Never to wandering minstrel or pondering
 Poet her castle gate closes :
 Ever her kindly cheer—ever her praise sincere
 Falls like the dew on faint roses.
 And when her Penillions rhyming
 She mates to her triple harp's chiming,
 In her green Gorsedd gown—
 The half of the town
 Up the fences to hear her are climbing.

5.
 Men in all fashions have pleaded their passions—
 The scholar, the saint, and the sinner,
 Pleaded in vain Lady Gwenny to gain,—
 For only a hero shall win her :
 And to share his strong work and sweet leisure
 He'll have no keen chaser of pleasure,
 But a loving young beauty
 With a soul set on duty,
 And a heart full of heaven's hid treasure.

* Syr Harri Ddu was a man of swarthy complexion, as represented in his picture which formerly hung in the old Gothic Hall at Llewenny, where he was dressed in a suit of black armour. This Henry Salisbury was brother to Sir Thomas Salisbury of Llewenny, Denbighshire. There is an Ode addressed to him by the bard Lewys Môn, who lived about 1500.

 Here Freedom breathes and here had birth.
 We will obey if laws be only just,
 We will be true to the chiefs we can trust.
 Let them but learn that our watchword still shall be—
 Proudly proclaim'd o'er land and sea,
 "This is the home of liberty!"

GOD REST YE, MERRY GENTLEMEN.

In moderate time.

VOICE.

1. God rest ye, mer-ry gen-tle-men, let no-thing you dis-may; Re-

PIANO.

- mem-ber Christ, our Sa-viour, was born on Christ-mas day, To save poor souls from

Sa-tan's pow'r, which long have gone a-stray, And it's ti-dings of com-fort and joy.

2. From God that is our Father the blessed angels came,
Unto some certain shepherds with tidings of the same,
That there was born in Bethlehem the Son of God by name,
And it's tidings of comfort and joy.
3. "Go, fear not," said God's angel, "let nothing you affright,
For there's One born in Bethlehem, of a pure Virgin bright,
One able to advance you, and throw down Satan quite,"
And it's tidings of comfort and joy.
4. The shepherds at those tidings rejoicèd much in mind,
And left their flocks a-feeding in tempest storms of wind;
And straight they came to Bethlehem, the Son of God to find,
And it's tidings of comfort and joy.
5. Now, when they came to Bethlehem, where our sweet Saviour lay,
They found Him in a manger, where oxen fed on hay;
They blessed the Virgin, kneeling down, and to the Lord did pray,
And it's tidings of comfort and joy.
6. With sudden joy and gladness the shepherds were beguiled,
To see the babe of Israel before His mother mild;
O, then, with joy and cheerfulness, rejoice each mother's child,
And it's tidings of comfort and joy.
7. God bless the ruler of this house, and send him long to reign,
And many a merry Christmas may live to see again,
Among your friends and kindred, that live both far and near,
And God send you a happy New Year.

2. They looked up and saw a Star,
Shining in the East, beyond them far.
And to the earth it gave great light,
And so it continued both day and night.
Nowell, &c.

3. And by the light of that same Star,
Three Wise men came from country far;
To seek for a King was their intent,
And to follow the star wherever it went.
Nowell, &c.

4. This Star drew nigh to the North-West,
O'er Bethlehem it took its rest,
And there it did both stop and stay,
Right over the place where Jesus lay.
Nowell, &c.

5. Then entered in those Wise men three,
Full reverently upon their knee,
And offered there, in His presence,
Their gold, and myrrh, and frankincense.
Nowell, &c.

6. Then let us all, with one accord,
Sing praises to our Heavenly Lord,
That hath made Heaven and earth of nought,
And with His Blood mankind hath bought.
Nowell, &c.

We be not daily beggars
That beg from door to door,
But we be neighbours' children
That you have known before.
Love and joy, &c.

3.

We have a little pouch here
Of ratchin' leather skin,
We ask you of your goodness
To line it well within.
Love and joy, &c.

Call forth the butler of this house,
Set on his golden ring,
And bid him bring of your Christmas loaf,
And of your bag pudding.
Love and joy, &c.

"Hither, page, and stand by me,
If thou know'st it, telling,--
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what his dwelling?"

"Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain;
Right against the forest fence,
By Saint Agnes' fountain."

3.

"Bring me flesh, and bring me wine,
Bring me pine-logs hither;
Thou and I will see him dine,
When we bear them thither."
Page and monarch forth they went,
Forth they went together;
Through the rude wind's wild lament--
And the bitter weather.

"Sire, the night is darker now,
And the wind blows stronger;
Fails my heart, I know not how,
I can go no longer."

"Mark my footsteps, good my page.
Tread thou in them boldly;
Thou shalt find the winter's rage
Freeze thy blood less coldly."

5.

In his Master's steps he trod,
Where the snow lay dinted;
Heat was in the very sod
Which the saint had printed.
Therefore, Christian men, be sure,
Wealth or rank possessing,
Ye, who now will bless the poor,
Shall yourselves find blessing.
